World's Week

BY HAROLD L. WEIR

Associate Editor and Daily Columnist of The Edmonton Bulletin

The Russian situation has been boiling and bubbling this week like that perpetual stew which the homesteader is said to have kept always on the stove and to have called the "pot of astonishment" because so many queer things went into it that he never knew what he was going to get out.

So many circumstances enter into the Russian salmagundi that almost anything might happen next.

In most wars there is a clear-cut issue and two clear-cut possibilities. One side or the other must win. And it is not insurmountably difficult in such cases to sit down and figure out pretty closely what will happen in either eventuality.

No such speculation can reasonably take place with regard to Hitler's entanglement with the Soviets. There is such a multiplicity of possibilities that one can only pick out the most likely ones and examine those.

In the first place, Hitler may both defeat the Russians and be defeated by them. He can keep on winning battles and chasing their armies all over their tremendously large country. And yet he lose thousands of men and tons of supplies doing so without gaining a single point that may be regarded as a decisive victory.

It is possible that he may never lose an engagement and still emerge from the campaign immeasurably poorer than when he went in.

If Stalin abstains from surrender, which is always a possibility at any time, Hitler may march in vain through devastated crop lands and dynamited oil fields without gaining anything of value.

Unless the Germans soon give up in disgust and withdraw entirely from Russia, this fruitless campaign might continue for some time.

In that case, there is a strong possibility that Britain may feel herself strong enough and the time opportune enough to risk a large scale invasion on German or German-occupied soil.

This, of course, is what the British high command is hoping for — the chance to strike a blow that will eventually weaken German domestic morale.

The many other possibilities in the situation, however, should not be overlooked.

Hitler might realize the impossibility of coming to grips with the Russian armies in such a manner as to make material gains within Russia. Yet he might continue his advance in Russia for the sole purpose of working himself into such positions that he could loose lightning blows at India or at Iran.

He might even push on through Siberia to establish air bases from which North America could be threatened.

There are any number of moves he might back, using Russia as a pivot, from which many parts of the world could be menaced.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Collicutt Mark Wedding Anniversary

The congratulations and best wishes of a wide circle of friends are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collicutt, of Willow Spring Ranch, who celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary on Thursday, July 3, with a quiet family picnic at Bowness Park.

The following interesting item was taken from the Calgary Herald July 4, 1901—40 Years Ago

Frank Collicutt, the enterprising cattle importer and dealer, was married last night at the Baptist Pastorial by Rev. J. W. Litho, to Miss Margaret Murdoch, daughter of ex-Mayor Murdoch, Calgary's first mayor. The bride and groom left on the delayed east bound limited for St. John, N.B. They will spend six weeks' holiday in New Brunswick, the province in which both were born and spent their childhood.

District Suffers

A hailstorm struck the district last Thursday evening, July 3, doing considerable damage over a scattered area, losses ranging up to 100 per cent. The hail was accompanied by a torrential rain and an electrical storm which disrupted light and power service for over two hours. T. M. Mair reports 260 acres a total loss and Guy Wickerson 160. Other heavy losers were Geo. Jones, Harve McCool, George Sefton and Chester Christiansen.

Resolution Passed

At Convention

At the recent convention held by the Union of Alberta Municipalities in Calgary, a resolution forwarded by the Village of Crossfield was the first resolution submitted to the Convention. It read as follows: "Be it therefore resolved that the Union of Alberta Municipalities request the Provincial Government to assume one half of the cost of Public and High School education in Alberta."

The convention not only passed this resolution, but a further resolution was also submitted and passed that this be forwarded to the Alberta School Trustees' Association for their endorsement.

Appointment of 28 weed inspectors by the province heralds a new onslaught on noxious weeds. An appropriation of $15,500 was made for the campaign this year.

arrived at Montreal this morning on his way to Ottawa from the Maritimes, where he has just inspected military establishments and preparations.

SCRATCHING GRAVEL.

"In homely terms it is then—what matter it, when this war is over, we scratch gravel, provided it is our own gravel: what matter if we find ourselves poor, provided our poverty is of that honest kind, the sharing of which invokes the true and equal dignity of man." These words were spoken by a great patriot, Robert Menzies of Australia, in an address broadcast from New York on May 13th, when he urged the need of sacrifice on the part of every citizen of the British Commonwealth, in order that the cause of freedom shall prevail.

Scratching gravel is indeed a homely term, one readily understood by the farmer who "scorns not with sun browned hands to scrape acquaintance with his lands." Fortunate is the farmer who lives in a country where he can till his acres of his own free will and reap for himself and household the reward of his toil. To preserve this freedom is worth some sacrifice. How much it is worth is realized fully and bitterly by farmers of continental Europe, who have lost it and are now no better than serfs.

Prepare Soil For Trees

Trees and shrubs do best when planted in well prepared soil. If it is proposed to set out a windbreak next year, the soil should be prepared this summer. Good deep plowing of old land is recommended. In new breaking, it should be backed and thoroughly worked during the summer. When land is well worked, the labor of planting is greatly reduced and the growth of the trees during the first year will be much faster.

Jam For Britain

Three hundred thousand pounds of Canada's fruits will be sent to Britain in the form of jam by the Canadian Red Cross Society during the season of 1941. Red Cross branches and the Women's Institute in fruit growing districts all over Canada are now organizing canning kitchens to preserve fruits this summer and fall. Cans, labels and cartons are being supplied by the Red Cross and the Women's Institute members are giving the fruit
sugar and labor.

Great Britain has already signified that all the jam that can be shipped will be greatly in demand since jam is now rationed at one-half pound per person per month.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By Dr. K. W. Neatby
Director, Agricultural Department
North-West Live Elevator Association

Experimental Farms

When land was new and wheat comparatively high in price, the practical farmer paid little attention to the scientific agriculture of the so-called white collar farmer. Now that we are being overrun by weeds, our soils suffering from erosion and wheat is in the doldrums, the importance of greater efficiency and regard for permanent fertility is accepted.

If all the knowledge accumulated at experimental farms could be applied to the farming industry, farmers would be much more prosperous and farms in much better condition to hand over to the next generation.

New and improved varieties are accepted readily. The wheat stem rust problem was solved almost overnight, not merely through the development of rust-resistant varieties, but because farmers accepted them.

Weed, soil drifting and water erosion problems could be solved in a similar manner if full use were made of information available at experimental farms and stations. The gap between agricultural knowledge and agricultural practice is far too great. Much is being done to reduce this gap by agricultural representatives and extension workers, but real progress depends upon the interest of the farmer himself.

Harvest will be upon us in a month. Before then, wise men and women will organize picnic groups for a day at the nearest experimental farm, and will not miss the regularly organized field days. Group visits provide for exchange of ideas and economize the time of experimental farm staffs.

Nylon's Big Brother

Great was the fanfare attending the introduction in Canada early this year of gossamer filaments of nylon yarn destined to become sheer feminine hosiery. Although the new stocking is the most spectacular member of the nylon family, a big brother whose role, while less glamorous, is no less revolutionary, has just made a quiet debut in this country, according to an article by Vic Baker in the June issue of the C-I-L Oval.

Completely overshadowed at present by the popular attention focussed on the fine nylon fibres being twisted into silky thread for ladies' full-fashioned hose, the new arrival will come into its own shortly on several important fronts.

With as promising a future as the nylon yarn, the new comer is already at work making sweeping changes in the fields of sport, surgery, music and industry in general. And this industrial revolution started in the thriving little town of Brownsburg, Quebec, where C-I-L's plastics plant is now producing miles of these magic strings for new and unusual applications.

While chemically the same as the nylon yarn used in hosiery, the new fibre is much thicker and is produced in a single solid strand, or mono filament, for use in a wide variety of products among which are included brush bristles, fishing leaders, tennis racket strings, musical instrument strings and surgical

Increased supplies of nylon in monofilament form will serve to fortify Canadian independence and save foreign exchange at a time when economic warfare is in some instances proving more far reaching in its effect than the powerful weapons of the army, navy and air force, according to the article. An there seems to be no end to the jobs nylon monofilament can perform nor can any definite prediction be made of what further developments are to come, for many of these are still in the nylon test tubes.
